"Let's Go"

The Winnipeg Winter Club has the honour to present to the public its Fifteenth Annual Skating Carnival.

To share in the ecstasy of a splendid show, friends and members of the Winnipeg Winter Club will join in saying . . .

"LET'S GO!"

to the 1938 spectacle in which there is offered for entertainment and enjoyment the grace, rhythm and dash of skaters of International reputation as they lead from joy to joy.

Featured among the visiting artists are the Misses Dorothy and Hazel Caley of the Granite Club, Toronto, Richard Salter of the Wascana Winter Club, Regina, and Peter Stensgaard with Charles Severson of the Thief River Falls Skating Club. The Committee, in extending to them a hearty welcome, wishes to express its appreciation of their assistance at this Carnival.

The Winnipeg Winter Club aims to maintain the interest in the art of figure skating and endeavours to keep its development before friends and members alike. The Club presents at this Carnival a number of its youthful members who with a motion all their own in the lighter graces will contrast with the speed of the more experienced artists.

In keeping with the high standard of performance which has marked the efforts of the Winnipeg Winter Club in past seasons, the Committee has spared nothing to have the music, costuming and lighting blend in glorious harmony, for 1938. Well then . . .

"LET'S GO!"

Genuine Puddled Wrought Iron in Ice Skating

(The Winnipeg Winter Club wishes to express its thanks to the Reading Iron Company for permission to reprint the following article from their publication, The Reading Puddle Ball, and for the use of the plates which illustrate this article.)

It's a crisp December morning in England, A.D. 1865. Lord Dychmire, seventh Baron Dychmire, prepares to keep his skating appointment with Lady Euthanasia Sopworth, the Dowager Duchess of Peasoup, and Sir Eadred Jevereaux (pronounced "Jukes").

In preparation for this event, Lord Dychmire's valet has conscientiously laid out his Lordship's skating costume. Here is the stiffly-starched shirt, with its high "choker" collar and Ascot tie. Here is the close-fitting morning coat, which, when buttoned, has all the comforts of a straight-jacket. Here are the tight, striped trousers, in which one must be careful not to bend over too suddenly. And lastly, here is the shiny top hat—target for every wanton breeze and for every small boy with a snowball.

Did people ever really dress like that for skating? They certainly did!—as can easily be proved by reference to old skating prints. The women of Lord Dychmire's day were, if possible, even more outrageously costumed than the men, although their habiliments had at least the virtue of being warm. Weighed down by voluminous petticoats, bundled in yards and yards of material, they probably moved over the ice with the steady grace of Spanish galleons. And managed, no doubt, to be perfectly charming while doing it. But even then, in that fairly distant period, there was one completely sensible adjunct to skating, the skates were made of genuine puddled wrought iron.

Skating is such an ancient thing that, in order to find its beginnings, we must go back to pre-historic times. The primitive Norsemen scooted across their frozen fjords with cow ribs, horse bones, and reindeer bones tied to their feet. Just how successful these bone skates were we shall probably never know, but considering the difficulty of tying a piece of bone rigidly to the human foot, it is likely that many an ancient Norseman frequently had to eat his meals from the Norse equivalent of a mantel piece.

Bone skates were used in England as early as 1180, as we know from the famous Fitz-Stephen Chronicle. In describing London, this Chronicle says: "When the great fenne or moore (which watereth the walls of the citie on the north side) is frozen, many young men play on the yce, some, striding as wide as they may doe, slide swiftly . . . some tye bones to their feet and under their heeles, and shoving themselves by a little picked staffe, do slide as swiftly as a bird flyeth in the aire, or an arrow out of a crossbow."

Nobody, at this late date, is going to call the venerable author of the Chronicle a liar. Yet there is grave

FOUNDED

IN 1892

Founded in Winnipeg in 1892, The Great-West Life Assurance Company has grown from a local undertaking to a financial institution of international importance. The company is outstanding in an industry notable for its financial soundness, and is known wherever insurance men foregather for its far-sighted management and service to policyholders and their dependents.

With attractive rates, excellent participation returns and a continent-wide service organization, The Great-West Life offers a portfolio of policies designed to fill every life insurance need—a policy for every person and every purpose.

Imagine a General Electric Kitchen . . . carefully planned to save you countless steps . . . and completely equipped with electric servants that perform so many tedious tasks, quickly, efficiently and economically! In this trim, business-like kitchen you can enjoy Holpoint electric cookery that's clean, cool and automatic . . . you'll save money every day with a G-E Refrigerator to safeguard food and health . . . you can banish the three-times-a-day chore of washing dishes with a G-E Dishwasher. And every day you'll be grateful to those smaller G-E appliances that mix your foods . . . brew your coffee . . . make your toast . . . and bake your waffles.

You don't have to be rich to own a time-saving, money-saving General Electric Kitchen. Ask your G-E dealer about the free planning service and budget plan of payment. And remember, for every room in your home there are dependable General Electric servants that will enable you to know the joy and satisfaction of living electrically.

"Let's Go"

A year ago you enjoyed the Winter Club's Carnival. That's why, this year you have said

"LET'S GO!"

"The ever living Universe
Turn where one may, is opening out new glories
And the independent spirit of pure youth
Calls forth at every season new delights."

In tonight's spectacle you will visit some distant lands redolent with Romance and Beauty.

*M*embers of the Winnipeg Winter Club whose photographs appear on this page can be seen on the badminton courts, on the ice or in the swimming pool almost daily, along with many other members who have reached great prominence in athletic activities as well as those who are taking part in figure skating, swimming and badminton for the pure joy and exercise which these sports give them. If you are interested in visiting the Club yourself, or if you are interested in having your children see the Club activities this may be arranged through any member of the Membership Committee.

Miss Judith Moss (Mrs. Parsons), who won the Diving Championship of the British Empire at the British Empire Games in 1934. Miss Moss received her training in the Crystal Swimming Pool of the Winnipeg Winter Club.

Miss Mary Rose Thacker, Canadian Novice Junior Champion, 1937. Miss Mary Rose, who is now only fifteen years old, developed her internationally-known skating ability at the Winnipeg Winter Club. She is a Canadian Figure Skating Gold Medalist, 1937.

Miss Patricia Chown and Mr. Philip Lee, Canadian Junior Pair Champions of Canada, 1938. Both these young skaters received their training at the Winnipeg Winter Club. Mr. Lee was Men's Junior Champion of Canada in 1934, and is a Canadian Figure Skating Gold Medalist, 1937.

Mr. Rupert Whitehead, Canadian Figure Skating Gold Medalist, 1938, won the Junior Championship of Canada in 1932.

Mr. Douglas Grant, Canadian Singles Badminton Champion, 1936, is a member of the Winnipeg Winter Club.

Miss Barbara Richards, Winter Club Diving Champion, who is now in Australia bearing the Winnipeg Winter Club colors at the British Empire Games.

Mr. Lewis Elkin, Men's Junior Champion of Canada, 1930. Mr. Elkin has taken a prominent part in the production of Winter Club Carnivals.

Miss Janet Sweatman and Mr. Fraser Sweatman, who won first place in the Waltzing Competition at the Canadian Figure Skating Championships, 1938, and came second in the Ten-stepping event. Mr. Sweatman with Miss Audrey Garland represented the Winter Club at the Olympic Games held in Germany in 1936. In 1934 this Olympic pair were Junior Pair Champions of Canada.

Miss Betty Riley (Mrs. George M. Black) and Mr. Jack Kilgour, Canadian Junior Pair Champions, 1937, who also learned figure skating on the ice sheets of the Winnipeg Winter Club.

THE CALEY SISTERS

HAZEL and DOROTHY

Members of the Granite Club, Toronto

The Caley Sisters, Hazel and Dorothy, are considered two of the most sensational figure skaters on the North American Continent.

Miss Dorothy Caley is noted for the dash and abandon which features her free skating. Her exhibition will lend colour to the Carnival.

As a pair the sisters won the Toronto City and District Pairs Title in 1933, just three years after they took up the sport.

Their perfect timing and smart pace are nothing short of inspiring. They offer youth, personality and colour with perfect showmanship.

This pair, in a Sister Act of the latest jumps and spins at high speed, will, we feel certain, be one of the thrills of this year's Carnival.

suspicion that he allowed his enthusiasm to run away with him when he spoke of the boneshod skaters as traveling "swiftly as a bird flyeth in the aire."

Modern investigators who have dug some of these old bone skates out of the museums and have tried them on the ice are convinced that the Chronicle's author was exaggerating, to use no harsher word. For those skates, by every modern standard, are the most awkward devices imaginable, entirely incapable of producing anything approximating high speed.

So much, then, for the era of the bone.

The next step in the evolution of the skate was putting wrought iron runners on the bones. And the next step after that was making the entire skate of wrought iron. There is good evidence to show that skates made entirely of wrought iron were in use as early as 1498.

This evidence is in an old engraving which appears in Bragman's "Vita Lydwine"—"Life of St. Lydwine"—published in that year. The engraving shows the good Saint in an unfortunate and regrettable position. She has just been knocked down by one of her friends during a skating party, and is lying half recumbent on the ice, supported by two companions. Under her foot is a clearly drawn wrought iron skate with a turned-up point. Tradition has it that St. Lydwine was not very seriously injured in the fall, suffering only a cracked rib.

During the time that Samuel Pepys—that priceless observer of life—was writing his secret shorthand diary, both the art of skating and the construction of the skates made great advances. Under date of December 1, 1662, Pepys expresses his amazement of the skill of English skaters as follows: "Having seen the strange and wonderful dexterity of the sliders on the new canal in St. James' Park performed before their majesties by divers gentlemen and others with scheets after the manner of the Hollanders, with what swiftness they pass, how suddenly they stop in full careere upon the ice . . ."

Pepys' use of the expression, "after the manner of the Hollanders," is well considered. For in his time, Holland was a skater's paradise—as, indeed, it is today. If there is anything the Hollanders have never lacked, it is water. And, in winter, the numerous waterways of Holland provide for the exercise of the skater's art. According to ancient record, the Dutch fleet being frozen in the "X" at Amsterdam in 1572 A.D., the Dutch musketeers sallied forth on skates to meet their Spanish aggressors, successfully routing them.

This incident serves as well as any other to bring out the fact that, in Holland, skating is mainly a business, rather than a pleasure. True, a great deal of skating is done for fun, but the Dutch rely on their skates as the safest and most dependable means of transportation during the winter months.

The first ice skates used in America, known as "turnover skates," were of German manufacture, their wrought iron runners culminating in a beautiful twist or coil in front of the toe. The skate itself was fastened to the ankle by several straps, which had to be buckled so tightly that they stopped the circulation of the blood, resulting in many a case of frosted feet.

An interesting story concerning the use of skates in the early days of the country concerns a Canadian settler, who, by means of his skates, was able to make a dramatic escape from his Indian captors. This settler, who had been captured by the Indians and doomed to death, chanced to notice among the spoils of a recent raid a pair of ice skates. The Indians, of course, were entirely ignorant as to the use of the skates, and the settler asked them to let him try them on, saying he could illustrate their use on a nearby lake. The gullible Indians allowed him to make the trial. He buckled on the skates, circled about for a moment or two and then, seizing a favourable opportunity, departed at full speed, leaving the Indians to stare dumbly after him!

However the "turnover" type of skate gave way to the English skate with the runners cut off short . . . how the old-fashioned method of fastening the skate to the foot with tight straps was replaced by the modern clamps for heel and toe . . . is of more interest to the historians than to the casual reader.
